To whom it may concern,

I have known Jered Buhayan during our 6 months training of Critical Care Nursing in Southern Philippines Medical Center (formerly known as Davao Medical Center). He worked well during his training days. He renders good quality nursing care to the patient and has good interpersonal and communication skills. In addition, he updates his nursing skills and knowledge by attended seminars and workshops for professional growth.

Jered is organized, efficient, competent in carrying out his duties, and enthusiastic in learning new skills to enhance his nursing knowledge and abilities. He showed a good character because he acted in a professional manner and has not yet violated any rules and regulations of the institution particularly in areas he was assigned. He can easily adjust to a new environment and able to work well with the staff.

He has an enormous respect to his superiors, staff and even to his co-trainees. He will be a valuable asset for any organization. I am certain that he will give high level of service, sincerity and competence to your institution. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,
Raymund Francisco, RN
